1. Since 25 August 1951 an increase in Chinese Communist military transportation has been noted in Fukien. The Army has recently requisitioned 50 civilian motor vehicles and 340 boats for moving military supplies in south Fukien. 25X1
2. Incomplete figures for the period from 25 August to 10 September show that more supplies of food, medical goods, arms, ammunition, and similar items are arriving in south Fukien than the quantity normally used by the garrisons stationed there.
3. On 1 September various chu and hsiang governments began inspecting Aid the Front organizations including food transport corps, stretcher bearing corps, mail dispatch corps, and similar units, with the purpose of eliminating deficiencies and strengthening these organizations. 25X1

Comment. An attack on Chirmen is not believed imminent as these preliminary preparations are not yet accompanied by any significant increase in troop strength in south Fukien.
